Development projects also consider equity as a variable. In execution, however, the efficiency is of the main consideration. Central Values of Public Administration: Transporion Leadership, Responsibility is Professionalism Traditional Objectivity Public Administration: Weber - Bureaucracy: Control, Monochrian Authority, Rite, Rules and Regulations. Wilson - Poil Dichotomy/Administration, but still bureaucracy as a structure, governed by rules and regulations. Taylor - Scientific Management, extensive workflow management; Minimization of unnecessary movements of the parts involved. New Public Management: It focuses on performance, and not in the rigid adhesion of rules and regulations. Applies the principles of market competition and encouragement so that public employees perform better. Decentralization - Diffuse of authority in
